

Indus Net Technologies Is All Set To Gift a Joyous Christmas to Underprivileged Children

The company is volunteering for a noble cause this Christmas

Kolkata, India, December 20, 2013 – Indus Net Technologies Pvt. Ltd. has joined hands with Durbar and Good2Give, two of the most popular organizations for charity, to bring a million dollar smile on the faces of children born to sex workers. INT, apart from being highly efficient at helping businesses leverage internet to save smarter, serve better and grow faster, is quite serious about their Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR). This company has always been quite active in this field and has been a part of many such initiatives in the previous years.

As per Indus Net Technologies, festive seasons are the best time to make children happy. Standing on the verge of Christmas, they thought it is the most appropriate time to gift joy, happiness and smile to some of the underprivileged children who strive every day to live a better life. Hence, on 21st December, 2013, the day of final match of Indusnet Premier League, their Annual Cricket Tournament, they have organized a small gift offering event where the company will be offering their "Gift of Joy" to these children. The event will be held at the FE Block grounds of Salt Lake in Kolkata between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. Being an organization with 550+ employee strength, Indus Net did not have any difficulty in taking such an initiative. They collected different kinds of gifts like bags, chocolates, clothes, footwear, packaged food, toys, stationery items, winter garments and etc. from their employees. The list of gifts includes many more things that can be of help to these children.

While speaking to the two aforementioned charitable organizations, Indus Net Technologies understood that these children have to face a number of difficulties to lead a life of common people. Some children do not get the proper opportunity to fulfill their dreams in terms of education and career whereas some do not get chances to mix with other children of their age; and all of these reasons often keep these children belonging to different age groups depressed. Now, through this small initiative, Indus Net Technologies is trying to help these children believe that they are not underprivileged. After all, it is the happiness of these little ones that matters the most.

All of these have made Indus Net Technologies organize such a noble event on the day of Indus Net Premier League so that the children can enjoy the match as well. This sense of Corporate Social Responsibility of the company is highly appreciated; the organization has surely walked that extra mile with an aim to make some of the underprivileged children in the city smile.
